University women's basketball team on a successful season:

"I want to congratulate Kelly Packard and her team on a hugely successful and historic season. Although yesterday's loss to Iowa State was disappointing, it should not diminish the Cardinals' remarkable and record-breaking year.

"The list of accomplishments for Coach Packard's first year at the helm is notable: a 26-win season, a MAC title, and an NCAA berth-not to mention the thrilling upset of defending champion Tennessee. What this team did this season is nothing short of amazing, although given the quality of Ball State's student-athletes, not surprising.

"Again, I applaud the BSU women's basketball team on the incredible strides made this year and look forward to more great basketball in years to come."
